EN ON THE COURTS-TENNIS CHAMPION'S COMMENT

ENNIS

SET VICTORY

nampionship Is Won by Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Mrs. C. V. Hitchins.

By SAMUEL J. BROOK MAN.

York State tennis championship yes terday. The superb tennis shown by Miss Mary K. Browne of California in winning the final from Mrs. May Sutton Bundy on Friday had strengthened conviction that Miss Marie Wagent Athletic Club yesterday, when Miss Wagner was forced to relinquish her championship in straight sets, out in front by a score of 3 to 1 before the coast girl roused herself, but once croused she came thorugh impressively rder. Then in the second set after she ad gone out into a lead of 3-1. Miss had gone out into a lead of 3—1. Miss Wagner rallied and brought the score to 2—all. Again Miss Browne felt the time had arrived for a little more aggressiveness and sulting action to the thought she forced the attack, cauht Miss Wagner out of position in the rallies and took the next three games ever so easily. It was a decidedly short match.

Miss Wagner Lacks Speed.

It may be said for Miss Wagner that she played skilfully, showed some splendid passing shots at times and on the whole outsteadied the girl from the Pacific ceast. But she could not cover court with anything like the agility of her opponent nor could she force the attack when ever she needed a point badly. She had to depend entirely on the accuracy of her strokes and on the errors of her opponent. Miss Browne obliged with quite a number of errors early in each set but they were scarce at the important stages.

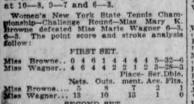

early in each set but they were scarce at the important stages.

The doubles title also changed hands when Miss Wagner and Miss Clare Cassel were beaten straight sets by Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Mrs. C. V. Hitchins in the championship round, which followed the singles match. The contest was spirited from start to finish, marked by spectacular recoveries, hard hitting and the always sparkling element of volleying. Mrs. Bundy dominated the match throughout. Her deep court drives carried plenty of sting and were always under splendid control. She raced all over the court, getting shots that locked far out of reach, placing well and furnishing opportunities for Mrs. Hitchins to block at the net.

Second Set Is Close.

Miss Cassel was not as steady as usual. She netted the ball often at important stages and her strokes lacked their customary decisiveness. Miss Wagner played well, but did not have the speed to protect her side of the court. The winners led throughout the first set, which they took at 6—3, but in the second, thanks to some fine sharp angled volleys by Miss Wagner and a period of unsteadiness on Mrs. Hitchins's part, the score went to 4—all. Mrs. Bundy and Mrs. Hitchins had to go at top speed in the next two games, but they won them both, and with them the set and match.

The match began on an outside court far removed from the grandstand, where the largest gallery of the week had gathered chiefly to see Miss Browne in action. It was rather a strange move on the part of the tournament committee, but was explained by the fact that both courts in the grandstand area were occupied at the time, one by a semidanal in the men's New York sectional doubles championship and the other by an exhibition doubles in which Robert and Howard Kinsey, the Pacific coast champions, opposed Vincent Richards, conquerors of William T. Tilden, and S. Howard Voshell. Some of those in the grandstand drifted out to where the women's singles match had been started to gain time, but it was not until one of the grandstand courts had become available that the title match was moved over to where the crowd sat. By that time all of the first set and two games of the second had been played.

Prosecutor Finishes Argument as Gamblers Bet

CHICAGO, July 30 .- Declaring it was not necessary for the State to prove that the conspiracy to "throw" the 1919 world's series was successful, or that the conspirators persisted in their plot throughout the entire series, Edward Prindiville, Assistant State's Attorney, anded the opening argument for the prosecution in the trial of the ndicted Black Sox to-day.

Full believing in their acquittal next week, the members of the Black Sox already are planning a tour of the that is Buck Weaver, who will con tinue in the pharmacy business with a rother-in-law irrespective of acquittal and reinstatement in organized base-Eddie Cicotte will captain and manage the tourists, if they tour, and will have another pitcher in Claude "Lefty" Willlams, a first baseman in Arnold "Chick" Gandil, a shortstop in Charles 'Swede' Risberg and two crackerjack hitting outfielders in "Shoeless Joe" Jackson and Oscar "Happy" Felsch.

Leading baseball centres such as all the major league points have been approached as to possible dates, and prior to that many engagements have been offered, notably at Oliton, Okla., and several towns in Missouri.

Having been unconditionally released by Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox, his former players only await similar action on the part of the jury.

Before the trial opened fans in the corridors of the Criminal Court Building were making books on the verdict. Odds of 8 to 5 for acquittal of all the defendants prevalled.

Mr. Prindiville in closing accused the ball player defendants of having dealt with several brands of gamblers in the course of the alleged conspiracy. He accused Chick Gandil of being one of the moving spirits of the gambling and accused Chick Gandil of being one of the moving spirits of the gambling and the spokesman for the ball players. Henry A. Berger will start the open-ing arguments for the defence on Mon-day. It is said he will make somewhat of a technical argument attempting to show the jury that no crime has been committed.

"It matters not in this-case how many gamblers these defendants did business with or how much money they got from the different cliques of gamblers. It was the same running conspiracy throughout.

"An attempted alibi was brought in here for Gandil. Burns, you remember, said he telephoned to Gandil and met him in the Warner Hotel. The defence brought in testimony to show that Gandil lived at the Tyson apartment. That is true, he did live there.

"The meeting place for these conspirators was the Warner Hotel. Cicotte got $10,000 there, Williams $5,000 and Jackson $5,000. You recall the testimony of these defendants that they met John Sullivan and Rachel Brown, New York gamblers, in that hotel.

"Burns Useful No Longer.

"Burns told you that after the third game Gandil told him he was through with the conspiracy. Yet after the fourth game there was money paid at the Warner Hotel. The reason for telling Burns that was that they wanted to get him out of the way because he was not necessary any longer.

"It is true that Burns is a co-conspirator and is just as deep in the mire as these defendants, but not in the money. How many sets of gamblers did these defendants deal with? First we find them with Attell and Bennett in Cincinnati, then we find them with Brown and Sullivan at the Warner believe that they all got money except Burns.

"I say that the evidence here shows that this is a swindle and a con game on the American public and that the conspiracy was born in Cincinnati and Chicago. All the State needs to show is that the defendants entered into a
